One lockup, drawn once

The mark

A multicolor glyph — pink and blue are structural, not decorative. It never changes color.

The wordmark

“aglyn” set in Raleway Medium at −4.12% tracking, converted to outlines. It exists only as artwork — never re-typed.

The pair

Mark and wordmark ship together as one file per background. Assembling them by hand is the #1 brand error.

02 · VARIANTS

Pick by background, never by taste

Light backgrounds

Colored lockup — the default.

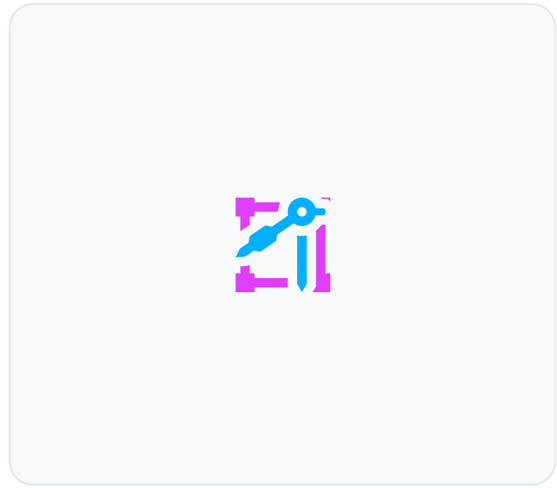

Dark backgrounds

Colored mark, white wordmark.

Saturated color

All-white lockup only.

Mark only

Avatars & favicons, 16 px+.

Single-color black exists for one-color print and engraving only — never on screen.

03 · CLEAR SPACE

Give it room to breathe

clear space = mark height

aglyn

Clear space

Keep at least the mark's height free on all four sides — text, edges, and other logos stay outside it.

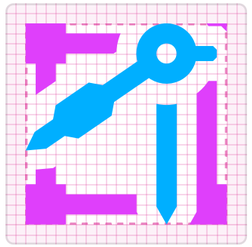

Minimum size

24 px tall on screen · 10 mm in print for the full lockup.

Below minimum

Switch to the mark-only file (16 px minimum). Favicons use the supplied icon set.

Built on a grid

The mark is drawn on a 24×24 grid — 20×20 of artwork with a 2-unit blank margin baked into every file. Scale it in multiples of 24 px for pixel-perfect edges.

04 · MISUSE

Four ways to break it (don’t)

✕ Don’t re-type the wordmark in any font

✕ Don’t stretch, squash, or rotate

✕ Don’t recolor or flatten the mark

✕ Don’t use the colored lockup on low-contrast color

08 · NAMING

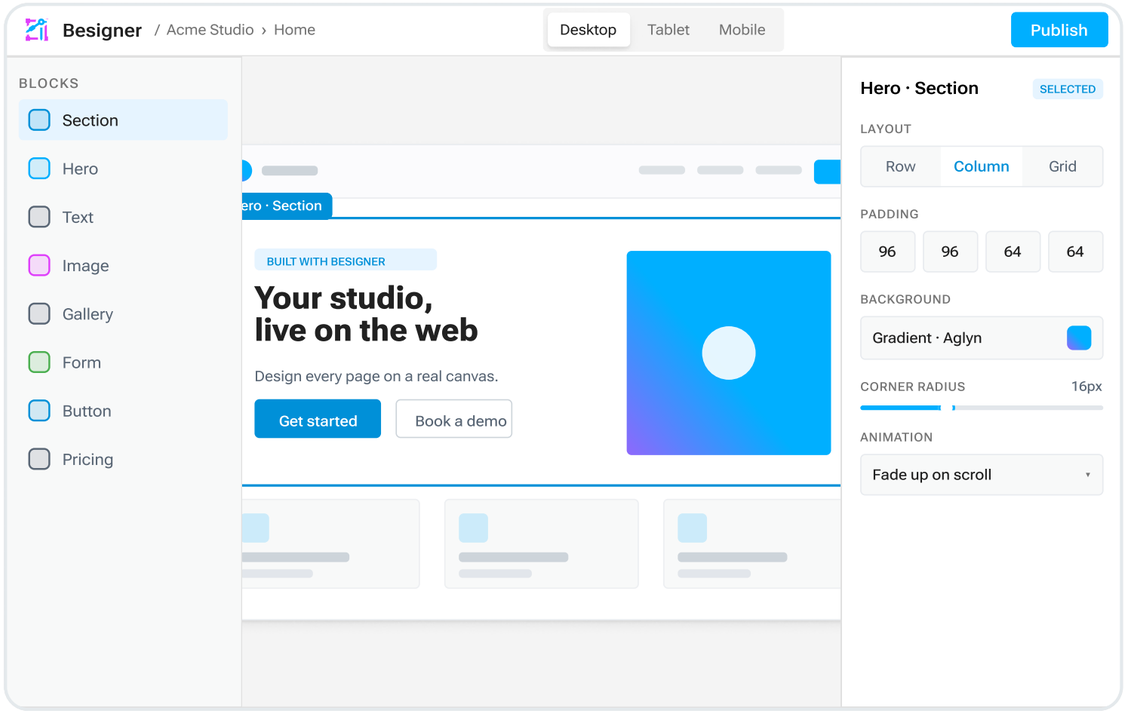

Write it like we do

Aglyn	The platform and the company. Capitalized in prose; lowercase only inside the logo.
Besigner	The visual builder. Capitalized in prose — exactly the same rule as Aglyn.
Aglyn Console	The management app. “The console” on second reference.
Products	Commerce, Forms & Inbox, Media, Workflows, Plugins, Analytics, Marketing, CRM, AI, Datasets.

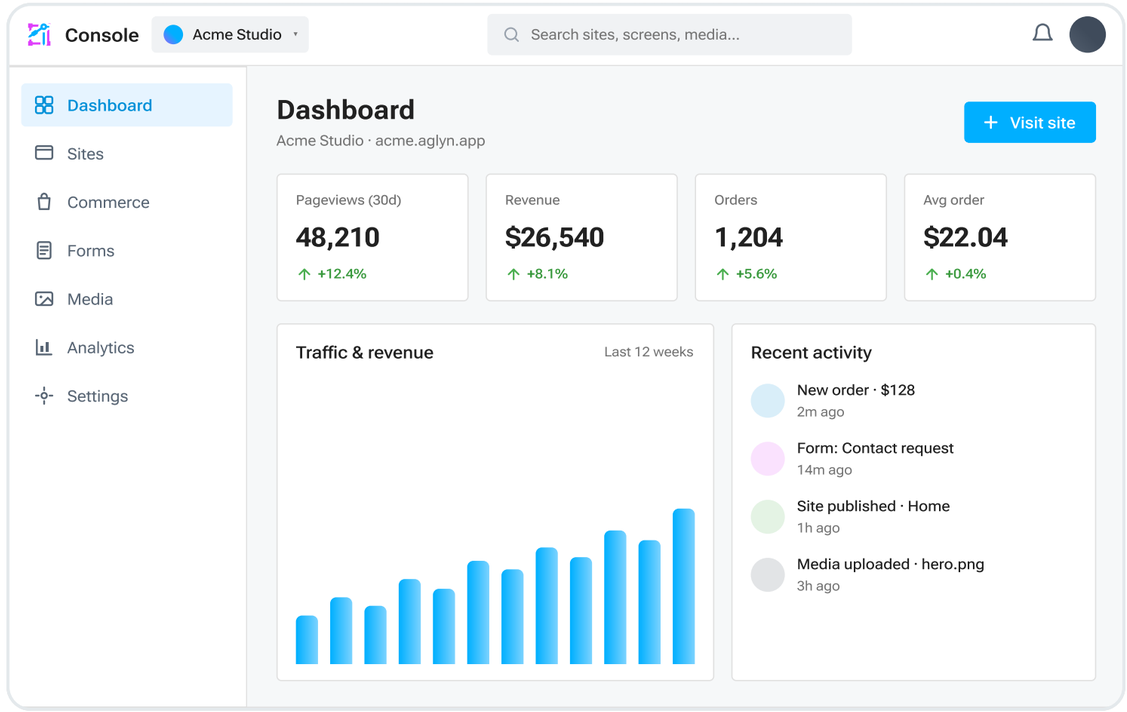

“Aglyn is an open-source website platform — design, ship, and run your entire web presence from one place.”

The approved one-liner — use it verbatim.
